

Explore the Religions of our World

With Brian Carwana

of the

Encounter World Religions Center

RSVP: Yvonne Runstedler via First Class

Friday, February 10th, 2017 St. Brigid's Villa

Evening events

4:45 Welcome &
Gathering

5:00pm Presentation Begins

6:00pm Complimentary Supper (bring your own refreshment)

6:45 Presentation
Continues

Evening ends with discussion & question period

To See, To Be, To Do:

The Landscape of World Religions

Encounter's most popular class, To See, To Be, To Do provides a fascinating and effective map for understanding the topography of the world religions. In this concise summary, many of the major religions are mined for the underlying assumptions and implicit logics that show how different families of religions answer 14 key questions including the cause of suffering, how liberation is achieved, and the nature of the ultimate.

Brian Carwana

Brian is the Executive Director of the Encounter World Religions Centre, an educational centre that introduces individuals to the people, places, practices and philosophies of the world's religions. Encounter's programs combine insightful classes with visits to places of worship to meet practitioners, see architecture, and experience ritual and communal life. Encounter has been recognized by the Parliament of World Religions and has reached over 100,000 people through its programs.